Code of Ethics for Research (CER)

Introduction

Kolhan University upholds academic freedom as its fundamental principle for research across all levels. The institution is dedicated to upholding the highest standards of integrity and accountability in academic research, and aims to cultivate a culture of honesty and transparency in all its research endeavours. The university acknowledges academic freedom as a fundamental value that must be protected and preserved. The university is committed to ensuring a climate of academic freedom, where scholars can engage in research, teaching, speech, and publication without fear of reprisal or restriction, as long as they adhere to scholarly norms and standards. The institution also expects all its members, including teaching staff, fellows, research students, visiting students, and administrative and support staff, to adhere to the highest levels of integrity when conducting or supporting academic research. To this end, a code of research ethics binds all faculty members, researchers, and students involved in research.
